

Attn FCC:

I am and have been a loyal listener to XM Satellite Radio since day one. One of the purposes of my purchasing the radio was the unlimited access to many stations and options that are NOT anywhere else until XM or Sirius made it available. I do not agree that any changes but growth are acceptable for XM radio. I would really become disappointed in our government and its listening ability if NAB petition 04-160 were to go any further than the trash.

I understand that XM radio is the next generation of radio and old fashion radio waves need help...but they too have grown and used Satellite radio for inspiration. Most cities have digital radio that list the song and artist as satellite radio has improved.

Unless the government would like to pay for every Satellite radio SUBSCRIBER I think that our opinion counts... and that we are paying for the privileges of these stations including XM traffic and weather supported by The Weather Channel and Instant traffic.

One other note... I think that if XM and Sirius is forced to change then the availability of cell phone web access would be reverted back to just phone services. To further explain, I access The Weather channel for Las Vegas, Dallas, and Canton areas but do I need permission to see the local information...NO! There for I do not need permission to access the local information that I use on a regular basis. TV Channels like CNN, The Weather Channel, and others provide access to information accross the US...like airport delays, Traffic, and WOW weather.

Faithfully a XM Radio Subscriber

Adam Hing